

I was very pleased with the overall entry of 94, of those 73 were exhibited. It was quite a warm day so I was mindful of this whilst working the classes.

The main sire influences were Conbhairean Freddie, Djambo vom Fichtenschlag, Toby von der Plassenburg, Gerry von der Schacher, Vablo vom Osterberger-Land and in the younger classes there were some nice babies from Iliano von Juvenisity.

The two biggest classes that impressed me the most with the depth of quality was the Open and Baby Puppy Stock Coat females. The bone strength, strength of heads, substance and overall presentation of the dogs in both classes was pleasing, considering the age difference the little babies did really well, credit to the owners and exhibitors. The Open Dog LSC winner was also a very pleasing dog with his overall construction and fluent movement.

Points of observation and areas of slight concern in my opinion was the firmness in stance, quite a number of dogs not standing straight and had infirm pasterns. The majority of dogs Hocks and Elbows should be firmer. A large number of males and female were standing on the upper limit of size and a small percentage were oversize. Firmness of the overall joints is of the utmost importance. All dogs presented were sound in character. A small percentage ideally could have had improved coat condition, and ring performance further developed.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank all exhibitors for their sportsmanship shown to each other in the ring, the club for the appointment and to my helpers on the day, Melanie Groth, Diane, Greg Jones, Cassie Booth and Kim McGregor. I really enjoyed the day judging your dogs and wish you all the best into the future with your breeding and exhibiting.
